CZECH REPUBLIC AND TAIWAN SIGN AGREEMENT TO REBUILD UKRAINE

The agreement between Taiwan and the Czech Republic, signed by the ambassadors of both countries, provides for joint work on the restoration of water and energy systems.

Ukraine has gained sympathy in Taiwan after the full-scale invasion of Russia. Many Taiwanese see parallels between the situation in Ukraine and the threat that the Taipei government says China poses to it, as it considers the island its territory.

Taiwan has donated more than $100 million in humanitarian aid to Ukraine and has joined the Western-led sanctions against Russia.
